Responses to Questions Received by SAFCA

1. Can you tell me to whom this RFQ was sent?

SAFCA transmitted notice of this RFQ to a broad array of consulting firms with which it has conducted business. The RFQ is also available at SAFCA's website for anyone to review and open to any qualified firm to submit a SOQ.

2. Who is running this project for SAFCA?

The project is being managed by both SAFCA Planning and Engineering Staff.

3. Can you please explain why the time to respond is so short on this solicitation? Looks like the Request for Qualifications was issued just a day or so ago but responses are due by Wednesday.

The overall Little Egbert Feasibility Study requires an aggressive schedule in order to meet key deadlines associated with project financing. An abbreviated RFQ process was selected to meet the project schedule while still facilitating competitive selection. The requirements for the SOQ were reduced consistent with this condensed selection schedule.
